■ DISCOVERY OF WINE

The history of wine began with the existence of human culture. During primitive days, men stayed in caves and lived on wild fruits and discovered that the natural sugar content in the fruits produced a sweet fragrant taste under fermentation. This is one of the earliest discoveries of natural fruit wines.

Modern medical experts believe that wine can assist to promote metabolism and blood circulation as well as preventing blood fats from depositing on the arterial bed. Chinese medical theories also endorsed herbal wine to promote blood circulation, restore energy level and vitality, aid digestion and even neutralising toxic substances present in our body system.

Wine is one of nature's best health food since ancient times. According to scientists, wine is a health beverage and has some health benefits to the human body.
